Whew Things are Hot!

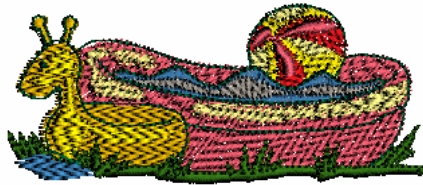

Volume 2, Issue 3, July 2008

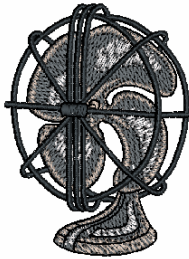

GN48362

The dogs have been taking dips in the wading pool and laying in front of the fans whenever they can. Poor boys, it's got to be rough wearing a fur coat when it is 90 degrees outside.

Here in Washington State we are experiencing quite a hot spell. We usually only get a few days each summer that are extremely unbearable and we sure are getting them now. I decided to get a portable air conditioner earlier this year and it sure has been nice to at least have the bedroom at a nice temp for sleeping.

It also gets extremely hot in my sewing room, so on these super hot days not much embroidery gets done. Now that I have the portable air conditioner, maybe that will change.

My Brother PR600 gets the job done.

New Washington State Sales Tax Rules and Summer Special....

Starting July 1, 2008, the Washington sales tax collected on shipped and delivered items changes to be based on where the buyer receives the goods. In the past it has been based on where the goods originated. This complicates record keeping a little more for me and unfortunately may cost some of you a little more than what you were paying in the past. Since I do not have a store front, the delivery location will need to be designated when placing your order, before I can give you a final total. As in the past, all orders shipped to out-of-state customers will not need to pay Washington State sales tax.

Summer discount :

10% off any clothing order with embroidery design of your choice.

Just mention SUMMER10 when you place your order.
