

Glen Echo Park: A Story of Survival

by Richard Cook and Deborah Lange

Captures the can-do spirit of Glen Echo Park...filled with delightful anecdotes, fascinating historical nuggets, and extraordinary photos that will be treasured by all who love Glen Echo Park.

– Connie Morella, US House of Representatives

An excellent blend of important local history and nostalgia...wonderful memories of the Spanish Ballroom, where I used to announce the big bands.

– Mac McGarry, NBC Television Host of "It's Academic"

Brings back precious memories of days gone by: going to Glen Echo Park with my mom and dad – a childhood highlight, and later as Bozo the Clown for another generation of Glen Echo Park kids.

– Willard Scott, NBC Television Reporter for "Today"

Over 100 historic photos of Glen Echo Park from the Richard Cook collection, including 26 photos from the Chautauqua era and 62 photos from the amusement park era – the most comprehensive history of the park available.

Available from the Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture for $29.95 plus tax and postage and handling. The proceeds from the sale of this book help the Glen Echo Park Partnership restore the historic structures and support the programs at Glen Echo Park.
