

ADVERTISING

"Home Price Crisis" Do Something About It.
www.ItsAPriority.com

Sunday - Hi/Low: 50/38
Mostly cloudy with showers

Monday - Hi/Low: 49/34
Mostly cloudy

Tuesday - Hi/Low: 54/39
Partly sunny

News Local search Search Help Paid archives

THE NEWS TRIBUNE
SUBSCRIBE
INTRODUCTORY SPECIALS
Advertise | Contact us

Saves you time. Saves you money. Makes you smarter.

The News Tribune, Tacoma, WA - Tuesday, March 20th, 2007 3:23 PM

OPINION

Tacoma, WA - April 1, 2007

Welcome, Guest Log in | Sign up! AA Bigger text AA Smaller text E-mail this story Print this story Text only Comments \(1\)

State should help tear down 'haunted asylum'

THE NEWS TRIBUNE
Published: March 12th, 2007 02:00 AM

The graffiti-covered ruins of Western State Hospital's abandoned Hill Ward Building – the "haunted asylum" – are an almost irresistible magnet for young people at Fort Steilacoom Park.

Built in 1932, Hill Ward was once home to male patients who worked on WSH's farm operation, which was discontinued in 1965. Now what's left of the three-story concrete building is where bored kids go to scare each other at night, drink beer and do other things their parents probably don't want to think about. Last summer it was a hangout for young thugs who assaulted and robbed at least 23 other people.

With its breached razor-wire fences and steel rebar sticking out of concrete, the ruined building is, in legal terms, an "attractive nuisance." And because it is a magnet for bad elements and poses a possible liability problem at a popular regional facility, the park's managers – the City of Lakewood and Pierce County – are right to want to get rid of it.

They have come up with $100,000 and $50,000 respectively and have taken care of the permitting and abatement requirement. They want the state – which owns the property – to contribute $550,000 from the capital budget this legislative session. The money would allow completion of Phase One of the Hill Ward Building Removal and Restoration Project, which also includes restoring the natural surroundings and erecting historical markers to tell the story of the site.

Although the hospital and the remaining farm buildings elsewhere on the grounds of Fort Steilacoom park have historical merit, the Hill Ward ruins do not. The building was partially demolished in 1989 while it was being used as a search-and-rescue training facility. All that's left is dangerous, graffiti-covered rubble, and it should be cleared away as a matter of public safety.

As owner of the property, the state has an obligation to the welfare of those who use Fort Steilacoom Park. That includes the residents of Western State Hospital and their visitors who often walk in the park. The Hill Ward ruins are not far from the main WSH campus and are easily reached on a well-worn path.

Partnering with Lakewood and Pierce County to rid the park of this dangerous eyesore makes sense. The South Sound legislative delegation should support the capital budget funding request.

Enlarge image

ADVERTISING

ADVERTISING

Top Jobs

Admin - Clerical
The Evergreen State College Olympia, WA ...

Healthcare
ASSISTED LIVING Cascade Park...

Accounting
FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING MANAGER Absher...

Nurse
LPN's Weekends - double shift, and PM...

Accounting
Come join our team and be part of the...

Construction
GENERAL LABORER needed by residential...

Find a Job

Enter Keywords

careerbuilder.com

BOOKMARK THIS STORY - Del.icio.us Digg Google Newsvine

→ SOUTH SOUND

- Bodies of Mount Rainier hikers identified as Puyallup couple
- Baghdad attack kills Fort Lewis policeman
- Legislators propose $1.1 billion road patch
- Budget plan not a hit with baseball fans
- Still willing, but not so ready
- Superintendent 'satisfactory'
- Police team might help Western

→ SPORTS

- No room for Cinderella
- Bennett won't bolt from WSU
- Next throw can be last for pitchers
- Dream pairing: Woods, Federer in Miami
- Boling: Bennett won't bolt from WSU
- McGrath: Basketball paradigm at WSU has changed
- Seahawks Insider: Weighing the → BUSINESS

- $18 million+ for WaMu chief
- NEW YORK: For seventh consecutive week, gas prices move higher
- ISSAQUAH, WASH.: Stock options inquiry brings federal subpoena for Costco
- REDMOND: New York hospital first to buy records product from Microsoft
- Product Recalls

→ SOUNDLIFE

- Spring program at the Pantages A feast for dancers
- New books celebrate sounds of birds, frogs
- Smell the coffee – and taste the red ants
- Baby, it's the guitar man
- David Letterman goes home sick
- On the Net: Obama leads the YouTube vote
- Bring the Noise: Ronty, booty

... since team might help protect
State

- Lights & Sirens: Motorcycle deaths raise concerns
- Callaghan: Consider merits of arena, track by fun, not bucks
- Merryman: You can help the planet and your budget

... examining market, weighing the merits of Carr

- Sonics Insider: ESPN.com item
- Huskies Insider: Football optimism in the spring air
- Preps: New football coach at Capital

- Adobe beats 1Q expectations
- How do I find the right fit for clothes?
- Final Potter book goes easy on the trees
- Voelpel: NASCAR track's a good bet, even without showgirls

... bring the weekend booty, booty, booty, booty rockin' everywhere!!!

- Gamers Journal: First GTA IV Trailer
- Ed's Diner: April Fooling with new restaurant plans

Privacy Policy | User Agreement | Contact Us | About Us | Site Map | Jobs@The TNT | RSS
 1950 South State Street, Tacoma, Washington 98405 253-597-8742
 © Copyright 2007 Tacoma News, Inc. A subsidiary of The McClatchy Company

This copy from NorthwestHauntings@comcast.net