KING SOLOMON MINDS

If King Solomon were around in AD 80 he might have been upset. After all his temple was being destroyed. But even worse, the truth about how and why this happened would elude the wisdom of historians through the ages. Don Doyle, armed with the histories of Michael Grant, will attempt to unravel the controversy. But be assured, as Don will be quick to point out, the controversy will remain.

At this month's presentation you'll hear the story of Josephus and the siege of Jerusalem. You'll learn about numismatic references to Titus, Nerva and others.

Bring your books and coins on the subject to help Don out and to share with the group. I know there are some Judaea Capta coins out there waiting for liberation. Bring them to the meeting to pass around.
